SPIRIT UNDER RECONSTRUCTION

Stop the presses! The Spirit is now under new management. Allow me to introduce myself. I'm Theresa McFeeley and I am the new editor of the St. Joseph's Spirit.

My first task as editor is to wish the best of luck and a fond fairwell to the former editor, Debbie Kramer, who graduated in the class of 1991.

My second is a call to the troops! We need a dedicated, creative, hardworking ... Scratch that. We need a STAFF! This is not a one woman show!

Anyone (anyone at all) who can write a grammatically correct sentence, who has ideas for new articles, who is a wiz at layout, or an amateur photographer... the Spirit needs you!

Come one! Come all! It's going to take an enthusiastic staff to make this paper great. If you are interested in joining this staff, sign up during Club Common Hour. I'll be looking forward to seeing you, and answering any questions you may have.

BACK TO SCHOOL QUIZ

What better way to get back into the swing of things than with a little quiz? Relax guys, this won't be graded, so have fun! Plus the best answer to the extra credit question wins a prize, so be creative!

1. Once again there are many students roaming the halls of SJC because (a) it's that time of the year again (b) they want to find their classrooms early to ensure promptness to class (c) the Alibi doesn't open until twelve.

2. Everyone is smiling, waving, and cheery towards their fellow students because (a) we're all in this together (b) it's still a bit too early for the rumors to have started (c) they think that it might help them to get a discount on one of your used books.

3. What is the reason for making students without ID cards sign in? (1) to ensure our well being (b) to see if anyone follows directions when it says "Please Print" (c) so Mr. Farrell can analyze our handwriting.

4. Why do the librarians always greet you with a smile? (a) to remind you that they are there to assist you (b) they think that you might finally be returning that book you "borrowed" freshman year (c) they hope that you are there for books instead of french fries.

5. There are always tons of people in the Rec Room and Cafeteria because (a) there's still ten more minutes until class (b) where else can you find a quiet place to study (c) the Alibi can seat only so many.

6. Why is Sherrie Van Arnem, our sweet, good natured, well-dressed, intelligent moderator, allowing this article to be printed? (a) because we complimented her so much in this question (b) because she knew we needed to fill up space in this paper (c) because she knows it's all in good fun (and how else are we going to get people to read this paper?)

EXTRA CREDIT: Why is the "grassy area" in front of the Dillion Center referred to as "The Mall"? Submit all answers to the Spirit office in room 101 and check the next issue for the winning answer.

INVOLVEMENT IS KEY

The Spirit would like to welcome everyone back to another year of school. Whether you are a freshman, transfer, or continuing student, the start of a new semester is the perfect time to put your best foot forward.

You now have the golden opportunity to make a fresh start in all your classes and to excel academically. Although receiving a good education is the obvious reason we are all here, parents, teachers and counselors have informed you all about that. So, we'll just move on to the next order of business.

GET INVOLVED! St. Joseph's is just ripe with various activities and enthusiastic moderators. Plus, its small size is ideal for those students searching for a way to shine.

Have an interest? Pursue it. It's that simple. Involvement in extra curricular activities is the key to creating memorable college years.

So why not browse around the auditorium Wednesday, September 11 during Club Common Hour? You just may see something you like. Besides, your grandchildren may not be all that interested in college stories about the time you watched the I Love Lucy marathon in the Rec Room, or when you had to be surgically removed from your cafeteria chair. Remember, involvement is key.
